Prompt Screen Tips and Tricks

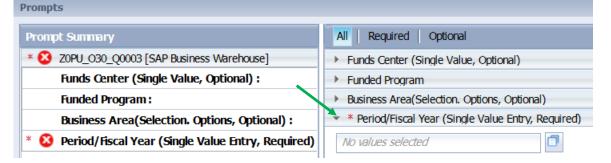

When running a report in Analysis, you need to provide the data to be retrieved for your report. These data items are sometimes called variables.

The Prompt (variable) screen is used to narrow down the data that the report retrieves.

This job aid will show you some tips and tricks for completing the Prompt screen data fields in various reports.

Identify mandatory variables on the Prompt screen

Mandatory (required) variables are designated by a red asterisk (*).

Fill in the mandatory variables on the Prompt screen

There are two ways to fill in the values for the variables.

Business Area(Selection. Options, Optional) :	 * Period/Fiscal Year (Single Value Entry, Required)

1. You may type a value in the mandatory variable text field.

2. Or, click the Display Member Selector button 🛄 to choose from a drop-down list of values.

NOTE: Some Prompt screens have a greater number of mandatory variables.

Mandatory variables - Changing the drop-down from Between to Equal

You must use the drop-down to switch from Between to Equal for those mandatory variables where you want individual values in those fields.
